NOVACARE HR POLICY MANUAL

Document status: Hypothetical internal company document. This document is designed for NovaCare's home-maintenance service model and should be reviewed against applicable Sri Lankan employment, privacy, occupational safety and other legal requirements before operational use.

Purpose

This HR Policy Manual provides a consistent framework for managing NovaCare employees. It establishes the principles for recruitment, employment, attendance, leave, compensation, performance, development, conduct, grievances, safety, confidentiality and separation.

Human Resource Principles

NovaCare will seek to manage employees fairly, consistently and respectfully. Employment decisions should be based on legitimate job-related requirements, qualifications, performance, conduct, business needs and applicable law. Managers are responsible for applying approved HR policies consistently and referring complex matters to HR.

Recruitment

Vacancies should be supported by an approved staffing requirement and a clear job description. Selection should use consistent criteria relevant to the role. For field positions, consideration should include technical capability, customer-service behaviour, safety awareness, reliability and ability to work at customer locations.

Employment Administration

NovaCare should maintain appropriate employee records, employment agreements, emergency contacts, qualifications, training records, attendance information and relevant performance documentation. Access to personal information must be restricted according to role and legitimate business need.

Attendance and Leave

Employees must follow assigned schedules and approved leave procedures. Supervisors should monitor attendance and address repeated absence or lateness consistently, while considering legitimate circumstances and applicable statutory rights.

Performance

Performance management should connect employee responsibilities with service quality, reliability, safety, customer experience and business objectives. Employees should receive clear expectations, feedback and reasonable opportunities to improve.

Employee Relations

NovaCare will provide formal channels for employees to raise workplace concerns. Disciplinary matters should be investigated fairly, employees should have an appropriate opportunity to respond, and decisions should be documented.

Health, Safety and Welfare

NovaCare will maintain reasonable systems for identifying workplace hazards, providing relevant instruction and equipment, recording incidents and responding to safety concerns. Field work requires particular attention to electrical, plumbing, working-at-height, lifting, tools, chemicals and customer-site hazards.

Information Security

HR and operational information must be protected from unauthorized access, alteration, loss or disclosure. Personal data should be collected and retained only for legitimate purposes and handled in accordance with applicable privacy requirements.

Policy Governance

The HR function or designated management authority is responsible for maintaining controlled versions of HR policies. Policies should be reviewed periodically, communicated to affected employees and updated when operational or legal requirements change.