NOVACARE CODE OF CONDUCT AND ETHICS

Document status: Hypothetical internal company document. This document is designed for NovaCare's home-maintenance service model and should be reviewed against applicable Sri Lankan employment, privacy, occupational safety and other legal requirements before operational use.

Purpose

This Code establishes the standards of behaviour expected from everyone working for NovaCare. It is designed to protect customers, employees, the company and the reputation of the service.

Professional Conduct

Employees must act honestly, respectfully and professionally. They must provide accurate information, follow approved procedures and avoid conduct that could reasonably damage customer trust or NovaCare's reputation.

Customer Homes and Property

Employees must respect customer privacy and property. They must use customer facilities only when necessary for the assigned work and must not enter restricted areas without permission. Any accidental damage must be reported immediately rather than concealed.

Payments and Gifts

Employees must not demand or accept unauthorized payments, commissions, gifts or personal benefits in exchange for providing, prioritizing or changing a service. Any legitimate company-approved customer payment must be handled through the approved process.

Conflicts of Interest

Employees must disclose situations where personal interests could conflict with NovaCare's interests. Employees must not divert NovaCare customers to personal businesses or use company leads, equipment or information for unauthorized private work.

Respectful Workplace

Bullying, intimidation, harassment, discrimination, threats and abusive behaviour are inconsistent with NovaCare standards. Employees should raise concerns through management or the grievance process.

Safety and Integrity

Employees must not bypass safety controls or falsify job completion, attendance, inspection, service or customer records. They must report unsafe conditions and relevant incidents promptly.

Confidential Information

Customer addresses, contact information, access instructions, service histories, pricing information, employee information and company operational data must be treated as confidential and used only for legitimate purposes.

Reporting Concerns

Employees are encouraged to report suspected misconduct, fraud, safety breaches, harassment, unauthorized customer charges or misuse of information. Reports should be handled confidentially to the extent reasonably possible.