NOVACARE DATA PROTECTION AND CONFIDENTIALITY POLICY

Document status: Hypothetical internal company document. This document is designed for NovaCare's home-maintenance service model and should be reviewed against applicable Sri Lankan employment, privacy, occupational safety and other legal requirements before operational use.

Purpose

This policy establishes rules for protecting personal, customer, employee and business information handled by NovaCare. The policy should be implemented consistently with applicable Sri Lankan privacy and data-protection requirements.

Information Handled

NovaCare may handle customer names, addresses, telephone numbers, appointment details, access instructions, service history, photographs, payment-related information and communications. HR may also handle employee identification, contact, payroll, attendance, performance and other employment information.

Purpose Limitation

Information should be collected and used for legitimate business purposes such as delivering services, communicating with customers, administering employment, processing payments, maintaining safety records and meeting legal obligations.

Access Control

Employees should access only the information needed for their duties. Field staff should not browse unrelated customer records, download customer lists or retain customer information after it is no longer needed for an authorized purpose.

Customer Information

Customer addresses and access instructions must be treated as confidential. Employees must not share them with friends, family, other customers or unauthorized third parties.

Devices and Communications

Company-approved devices, systems and communication channels should be used where provided. Employees must protect passwords, avoid unauthorized software and report lost devices or suspected unauthorized access promptly.

Photographs and Media

Photographs taken at customer premises must have a legitimate work purpose and should be handled through approved systems. Employees must not publish customer property, interiors, documents or personal information on social media without proper authorization.

Employee Information

Employee personal information should be accessed only by authorized personnel and kept secure. HR should avoid collecting or retaining information that is unnecessary for legitimate employment or legal purposes.

Retention and Disposal

Records should be retained for as long as necessary for their purpose, contractual needs or applicable legal requirements. When disposal is authorized, information should be securely deleted, destroyed or anonymized as appropriate.

Incident Reporting

Suspected data loss, unauthorized disclosure, phishing, account compromise or accidental sharing must be reported immediately to the designated company contact so that appropriate containment and response can begin.
